Subject: Gas Pipeline/Vice President

As follow-up to your DC trip, I would recommend that you request a telephone call with Vice President Cheney for next week to outline AGIA and to discuss your gas pipeline meetings with Chairman Kelliher, Secretary Bodman, etc.

As we have discussed, the Vice President has the lead for the Bush administration on most energy issues. I think we made substantial progress with FERC and DOE. However, for this to manifest itself in beneficial ways, I believe the Vice President must be onboard. This is particularly true with respect to our approach, which does not favor the producers but treats all potential applicants equally.

I think we can expect that the call would last no more than 15 to 20 minutes and would be between you and him alone. If a call makes sense, I can do some advance work with his energy staff whom I know pretty well.

On a related matter, I have suggested to Mike Tibbles that we convene an internal teleconference of appropriate State people to review the DC situation and to confirm messaging and strategy for the future, including both Congress and the federal executive agencies.

We very much enjoyed working with you and Mike this week.

Please note that my email address has changed. My new email address is jwkatz@alaskadc.org. Thank you .

Dear Steve Flory,
Somehow I received this (your) message and now I can not, not, reply to you; and et al.
First, (your) passé, colonial, concept of "owning" Alaska's (natural) resources is truly an amazingly parochial concept and attitude, especially in this day and age. And here is exactly why:
We actually own nothing of the natural world--but we do and should work hard at treating it wisely and with utmost respect and consideration in perpetuity.
This acquired wisdom and respect may involve an intense 21st Century education, as well as, a thorough understanding of the Alaskan Natives' own, ages old, mature credo.
This credo basically follows and results in a humble acceptance of the precious gifts presented by our land, water, air and by all the original natural inhabitants found therein.
What it is not about, as you have written, is "bio-greenie"s, "Good Old Boy networks" or "Urban-Rural Divide." It is also not about politicians or department heads and it is certainly not about blatantly dissing the Governor of Alaska, in your obvious rush to arms.
Your call to arms of the "Sportsmen" of Alaska totally misses the target and does nothing at all to promote unity or a better understanding of the complex and interdependant nature of all species and their individual uniqueness in this total web-of-life that exists, both in Alaska and in the wide-world out there. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to respond to you.
Sincerely, Alan R. Munro

Subject: Urgent Message to All Sportsmen!!!

Fellow Sportsmen,

Sarah said she would make changes, get rid of the Good Old Boy networks, and get tough with the Feds. She championed the Constitution, which states that Alaskans own the resources and should use them. She made that promise all over the state. She said, "Hold our feet to the fire".

Now more than ever, we have one last chance to let the Governor and her staff know that we invested heavily in her, and we are going to hold her to her abundance management promises.

A virtual conspiracy placed Denby Lloyd as her Acting ADF&G Commissioner. With supporting ethical shenanigans by the Joint Boards of Fish and Game, the Governor was handed a "list" that consisted of one name, Denby Lloyd.

With callous disregard for state statute, the Joint Boards ignored the fact that the law directed them to provide "a list of qualified persons", from which the Governor was to chose. The Good Old Boys couldn't take the chance she might pick one of the others originally "short-listed" by the Joint Boards. This is a sad commentary on the Governor who campaigned for transparency in government, higher ethical standards, and changes in the status quo.

Now Lloyd has selected a "bio-greenie", Ken Taylor, as his Deputy of Game. You heard it right, the same Ken Taylor that brought us Knowles' wolf neutering fiasco, and helped reintroduce wolves into Yellowstone (see the attached document for his full list of "accomplishments").

We cannot wait! Our moose populations are crashing around us, and Federal intrusion is at an all time high! This may be the last chance we have for the next generation to enjoy the life style that Alaskan's live for – an Alaska where wildlife abundance is the rule, not the exception.

Candidate Sarah lifted the hopes and sprits of Alaskans and crossed the "Urban-Rural Divide" with her promise to restore game populations to the shining star they were before political correctness crept in and captured our ADF&G. She has written us the check of hope, it is now time to present that check to Governor Sarah for payment.

There is one more chance to send her a message that you want changes. On Friday, March 2 at 3:30 P.M. the Legislature's Resource Committees take up the confirmation hearings for Denby Lloyd and others. Call your legislators and ask them to vote NO on Lloyd's confirmation. If they do, the Governor can begin an honest process and request the Joint Boards to rethink their "list" definition. We Alaskans who elected Sarah Palin Governor deserve no less.

Now is the time to call and/or email your Legislators today and let the will of the people be heard!

Just an FYI. And good comments from Huggins re: DC trip. I know Joe Balash is heading back to Energy Council and will speak about AGIA for roughly 10 minutes, I believe.

Senators Stedman, Huggins to Promote Alaska Gas Line in Nation's Capital

Discussion with Vice-President's Staff, FERC Commissioners Planned

(JUNEAU) – Senate Finance Committee members Sen. Charlie Huggins (R – Rural Mat-Su/Chugiak) and Sen. Bert Stedman (R – Sitka) are traveling to Washington D.C. this weekend to attend the Energy Council meeting. Their mission next week is to discuss Gov. Sarah Palin's Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) and other Alaska energy issues with state and national leaders. Energy Council is a group of state lawmakers from energy producing states that come together to discuss and promote energy issues in the nation's capital.

The event brings Stedman and Huggins together for a series of meetings with the Vice-President's Deputy Assistant for Domestic Energy Policy, Federal Energy and Regulatory Commission (FERC) Commissioners, members of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, and Alaska's Congressional Delegation.

"Governor Palin's trip to Washington last week to discuss her AGIA was a success," said Huggins. "Energy Council is the perfect way to follow up and reinforce her positive message that Alaska is ready to negotiate with companies interested in building a gas pipeline."

"Now that Governor Palin has released her Alaska Gasline Inducement Act, our gasline tops the Energy Council agenda in Washington D.C.," said Stedman. "I look forward to working with the national leaders who will help make Alaska's gasline a reality."

Both senators will play a key role in reviewing the AGIA bill. Sen. Stedman co-chairs the Senate Finance Committee and sits on the Resources Committee, while Sen. Huggins chairs the Senate Resources Committee and sits on the Finance Committee.

Theresa,

Pursuant to the Alaska Public Records Act, you will be provided a copy of Dr. McLean resume within 10 days.

I am aware you applied for the Bar Association, as did several other applicants. Dr. McLean proved to be the best candidate to fill the vacancy on this particular board. I believe his community involvement, professional experience, and open and objective views of the Alaska Bar and the Alaska judicial system made him my first recommendation for Governor Palin's consideration. He does not have an agenda. He does not have any preconceived ideas about the board. Dr. McLean comes in with an open mind, a passion for law, and a willingness to serve the state of Alaska. I will let his resume speak for itself.

I sincerely appreciate your interest in serving the state of Alaska and the Bar Association. Governor Palin asked that I convey her appreciation also. I look forward to continuing an open and positive dialogue with you.

Best regards,

I hope that you, Sarah, yourself have read my email""Dr. McLen, Alaska Bar Assn., & Alaska Permanent Fund Board." I am trying to help you. Only with the truth can you succeed.

May I receive Dr. McLean's vita? I assume he submitted one as part of his application for Board of Governors, Alaska Bar Association. I believe anyone who serves in a public body like Board of Governors Alaska Bar Association is open to public scrutiny. Please let me know if this request is a problem.

Governor Palin c/o Ms. Frye:

I just left a voice mail when I checked your website and found that you appointed Donald McLean, D.D.S. or D.M.D., to Alaska Bar Association Board of Governors today. Please email of fax his vita. I assume you know that I wrote you to ask that I be appointed. I apologize that I cannot give you a big check. Can you imagine how much money we have spent and the emotional effort that we have expended, Sarah? I can tell you that I am very saddened that I feel that we get no help at all. I do not observe per your "Governor Palin Fills Board and Commissions":"... their selfless efforts to share their expertise and knowledge with the rest of the state." I observe only those who are purveyors of the status quo getting any appointments. Please make sure that I am "all wet."

Do you really believe that my husband has flunked a three day essay test of minimal competency 31 times over a 23 year period and that he should have been denied reciprocity for 17 years? Tom and I know that ethical people do not take a person's money once without a thought of helping the person. If an attorney who is licensed in any of the about 25 states that have reciprocity with Alaska wants to be licensed here all he/she has to do is pay $1,000 and submit paperwork. My husband and I live here and should have at least as equal rights as those who have never landed on our soil. We have fewer. Alaska is owned by the 499/2,856 Alaska Active Out of State who are members of the most powerful law firms in the U.S. What about Alaska?

I would have thought that there would have been articles this week about Commissioner Notti's appointment and the $37,250,500,000 pot of money that we own as Alaskans. The fact that very little if anything is written at any time in our media about Alaska Permanent Fund is a profound example of the fact that Alaska is owned by interests outside Alaska. There should be publicity constantly about it. Please check http://www.apfboardconfirmation.org for 493 pages of research about what Alaska Permanent Fund Board really does. I have asked that Alaska Permanent Fund Board members' yearly APOC Financial Disclosure Statements be posted online but to date APOC has not decided to do this. That would be a step in the right direction.

I know that "Politics is the art of the possible." You, Governor Palin, cannot change the world. I know you are doing your best but I could have done a really good job on Board of Governors Alaska Bar Association. I really am sad that you could not have seen your way clear to appointing me. I did want to give you a check but I have two sons in private medical schools and two other children in private colleges. We spend any other money we have on Tom's effort to be licensed to practice law in Alaska.

I hope to get Dr. McLean's resume tomorrow. I would like to know Dr. McLean but I am tired of being the focus of everyone's hatred just because I tell the truth.
